Deaf charity SignHealth goes footie crazy in fundraising blitz!

Football legend Pelé and UK stars including Steven Gerrard and Ryan Giggs are helping deaf charity SignHealth to raise vital funds for research, health promotion and support services.

Pelé, universally regarded as 'The King of Football', is the all-time top scorer in the history of the Brazilian national team and is the only footballer ever to win three World Cup titles as a player. His signed football forms part of a stunning collection of signed football memorabilia being auctioned by SignHealth via fundraisers www.Charity2Charity.com.

As the only UK charity focussed on improving the health of deaf people, SignHealth has a formidable track record of delivering change in health and access to healthcare for deaf people, as well as providing supported housing, advocacy, outreach, counselling and health promotion, all within a British Sign Language (BSL) supported environment.

Additional information

Charity2Charity has provided SignHealth with a dedicated microsite with online auction functionality that is available 24/7 every day of the year. This 'anytime' facility allows the charity to auction the many valuable and unique items donated from corporate sponsors and individuals all year round, instead of having to wait for occasional or one-off annual fundraising events.
